MOL provides a Service to Users through the Application which allows Users to search for topics about MOL's current discounts (coupons), contents and services and MOL may make available other applications that MOL's contracted partners or MOL Group member companies offer thus that the User is able to obtain information about these applications.

Data transfers to a third country: Data is not transferred to a third country.

The fact of automated decision making, also including profiling, and at least in such cases, at least information in comprehensible form about the applied logic and the significance of such data processing and the expectable consequences it may lead to for the data subject: There is no automated decision making and profiling.

Data security measures:

In order to guarantee the confidentiality, integrity and availability of the personal data, the Data Controller stores your data in a password-protected and/or encrypted database according to IT security standards and norms. The Data Controller ensures records of the data in accordance with risk-proportional protection and network, infrastructure and application-level protection (firewalls, antivirus programs, storage and communication encryption mechanisms for which asymmetric encoding, without the decryption key being encrypted data stream cannot be retrieved, blocking content and other technical and process solutions). The Data Controller continuously monitoring and processing privacy incidents.

The Data Controller plans and implements data processing operations to ensure the protection of the privacy of the data subjects through the application of GDPR and other data processing legislation.

The Data Controller ensures the security of the data, takes technical and organizational measures and establishes procedural rules that are necessary to enforce GDPR and other data protection and confidentiality rules.

The Data Controller protects the data with risk-proportional actions, in particular against unauthorized access, alteration, forwarding, disclosure, deletion or destruction as well as becoming inaccessible arising from changes in the technology used. In this context, the Data Controller stores the personal data of the data subject in a password protected and/or encrypted database. The Data Controller protects the data with firewall, antivirus software, encryption mechanisms, content filtering, and other technical and process solutions in the context of risk-proportional protection. The Data Controller constantly monitors the personal data breaches.

Your rights regarding the data processing:

Your detailed rights and remedies are set forth in the applicable provisions of the GDPR (especially in articles 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 77, 78, 79, 80, and 82 of the GDPR). You may at any time request information about your data, request any correction, deletion, or restriction of processing of your data at any time, otherwise you may object to legitimate interest data processing and direct marketing messages and you have the right to data portability. Below we summarize the most important provisions.

Right to information:

If the Data Controller is processing Your personal data, the Data Controller must provide information to You - without Your request - about the most important data processing features, such as the purpose, legal basis, duration of the data processing, the identity and contact details of the Data Controller and its representative (including the adequate and appropriate guarantees in case of data transfer to the third country), in the case of legitimate interest data processing, the legitimate interest of the Data Controller and/or third party, and your rights and remedies regarding your data processing (including the right to lodge a complaint to the supervisory authority), if You do not have this information. In the case of automated decision-making and profiling, the data subject shall be informed of the logic applied, as well as understandable information about the significance of such data processing and the likely consequences for the data subject. The Data Controller provides this information by providing You with the current data protection notice.

Right of access:

You have the right to obtain confirmation from the Data Controller that personal data concerning you are being processed. If yes, you are entitled to have access to the personal data concerned and certain information, including the purposes of the processing, the categories of personal data concerned, the recipients, the duration of data processing (planned), the rights and remedies of the data subject (including the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority) and the personal data are collected from the data subject information as to their source. For Your request the Data Controller provides a copy of the personal data undergoing processing.

The Data Controller may charge a reasonable fee based on administrative costs for requested further copies. The right to request a copy may not adversely affect the rights and freedoms of others. About possibility of publishing a copy, its method, any costs and other details, the Data Controller provides you any information if You request it.

In the case of automated decision-making and profiling, the data subject has the right of access: the logic applied and to the significance of data processing and the likely consequences for the data subject.

Right to rectification:

You have the right to request Data Controller to rectify the inaccurate the personal data which concern you, without undue delay. Taking into account the purpose of data processing, you are also entitled to have incomplete personal data completed e.g. by a supplementary statement or otherwise.

Right to erasure:

You have the right to request, the Data Controller to erase the personal data concerning you without delay, and the Data Controller must erase the personal data concerning you without delay where the certain conditions are satisfied. Inter alia the Data Controller must erase the personal data when the personal data are no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which they were collected, you withdraw your consent on which the processing is based, and no other legal ground subsists for the processing, the personal data have been unlawfully processed or you object to the processing and there are no overriding legitimate grounds for the processing, the personal data have to be erased for compliance with a legal obligation in Union or Member State law to which the Data Controller is subject and the collection of the personal data occurred in connection with offering services regarding the information society.

If the data processing is based on Your consent the consequence of the withdrawal of consent:

Please note that the withdrawal of your consent will not affect the legitimacy of the data processing carried out on the consent granted prior to the withdrawal.

Right to restriction of processing:

You have the right to obtain a restriction of processing from the Data Controller where one of the following applies:

- a) You contest the accuracy of the data in this case, the restriction concerns for a period enabling the Data Controller to verify the accuracy of the personal data;
- b) the processing is unlawful and You oppose the erasure of the personal data and request the restriction of their use instead;
- c) the Data Controller no longer needs the personal data for the purposes of the processing, but You require them for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims; or
- d) You have objected to processing based on the legitimate interest of the Data Controller pending the verification whether the legitimate grounds of the Data Controller override Your legitimate interests.

Where processing has been subject to the above restriction, such personal data shall, with the exception of storage, only be processed with Your consent or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims or for the protection of the rights of another natural or legal person or for reasons of important public interest of the Union or of a Member State.

The Data Controller informs You before the restriction of processing is lifted.

Right to data portability:

You have the right to receive Your personal data, which You have provided to the Data Controller in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and have the right to transmit those data to another controller without hindrance from the Data Controller, where:

- a) the processing is based on Your consent or on a contract (in which You are a party); and
- b) the processing is carried out by automated means.

In exercising the right to data portability You have the right to request to the personal data transmitted directly from one controller to another, where technically feasible.

Exercising right to data portability shall not contravene to provisions concerning the right to erasure and, further, this right shall not harm the rights and freedoms of others.

Right to object:

You have the right to object, on grounds relating to Your particular situation, at any time to processing of personal data concerning you for the purposes of legitimate interests. The Data Controller will no longer process the personal data unless it demonstrates compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override the interests, rights and freedoms of the data subject or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

Where the processing of personal data serves direct marketing purposes You are entitled to object to the processing of personal data regarding you for such purposes, including profiling, in so far as the latter relates to direct marketing. In case You object to the processing of personal data with the aim of direct marketing, then the personal data can no longer be processed for this purpose.

Framework for the exercise of rights:

The Data Controller will respond without unreasonable delay and by no means later than within one month of receipt to the request of You whereby You exercise Your rights about the measures taken upon such request. This period may be, if needed, extended by further two months in the light of the complexity of the request and the number of requests to be processed. The Data Controller notifies You about the extension also indicating its grounds within one month of the receipt of the request. In case the Data Controller does not take any measure upon the request, it shall so notify You without delay but by no means later than in one month stating why no measures are taken and about the opportunity of You to lodge a complaint with the data protection authority (In Hungary, the competent supervisory authority is the Hungarian Authority for data Protection and Freedom of Information "NAIH" (<http://naih.hu/>; H-1530 Budapest, Pf.: 5; telephone: +36-1-391-1400; fax: +36-1-391-1410; e-mail: ugyfelszolgalat@naih.hu) and to file an action with the courts for remedy.

In case of violation of Your rights You may be appealed to a court. It belongs to the jurisdiction of the General Court. The case may be initiated before the tribunal of the domicile or place of residence of the person concerned, according to his/her choice. The court may oblige the Data Controller to provide information, correct, limit or delete the data, or annul the automated decision-making processing, to take into account Your right to object. The court may order disclosure of its judgment in such a way that the Data Controller or any other data controller and the infringement committed by it may be identified.

You may request compensation of damages incurred in connection with unauthorized data processing (including omission take data security measures) from the Data Controller responsible for the damage. If the Data Controller breaches Your personality right by unauthorized data processing or violation of requirements of data security, you may demand a tort from the Data Controller. The Data Controller is exempt from liability if it proves that the damage or prejudice to the person's personality right is caused by an unavoidable cause outside the scope of the data processing.

No compensation is required and no damages can be claimed in so far as it is due to the intentional or gross negligence of the injured party.
